

"HOLIDAY" FOR FARMERS INTO EFFECT TODAY

Several States Have Reported "Strike" Movement Spreads

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 15—(AP)—First tangible effects of the farmers' "holiday" movement in the northwest Iowa was felt here today with a heavy decrease in receipts of hogs at the Sioux City stock yards.

The receipts today totaled 3,500 as compared with 6,500 a week ago and 8,500 on the corresponding date a year ago.

Meanwhile, authorities went into conference to decide upon action to curb threatened violence arising out of the efforts of the strikers to enforce their decrees upon other farmers. Sheriff John A. Davenport indicated that he might deputize a corps of about 100 special officers to handle the situation. He planned to join with County Attorney Ralph C. Pritchard in requesting the Board of Supervisors for permission to take the necessary steps to protect trucks carrying produce to market.

Serious Situation
A serious situation prevailed on Monday morning on highway number 75, leading into the city from the north. More than forty live-stock and milk trucks were halted at the Woodbury county line, where several hundred farmers had gathered.

A heavy steel cable was strung across a bridge. A few trucks crashed through the cable, but were blocked again when the farmers threw heavy railroad ties under the wheels.

About fifteen of the trucks were turned around and returned home with their cargoes. More than a dozen others were routed over the Perry creek road, the drivers stating their intention of trying to run the blockade on that highway.

MEETING AT DES MOINES
Des Moines, Aug. 15—(AP)—The farmers non-selling movement, none too successful during its first week in Iowa, its birthplace, today was discussed here by representatives of this and nearby states.

The primary purpose of the gathering was to formulate plans for extending the holiday to all midwestern states, a move which officials consider necessary for the success of the strike.

Milo Reno of Des Moines, temporary chairman of the National Farmers Holiday Assn., said he expects men from ten states to join the deliberations. A temporary executive committee was named to examine the effects of the Iowa strike on farm prices.

Besides Reno, John Bosch of Atwater, Minn., E. N. Hamquist of South Dakota, and E. D. Kennedy of Kankakee, Ill., are on the committee.

The holiday movement, which will last 30 days or less, seeks to withhold farm produce from the markets until cost of production, plus a fair profit is obtained.

ROADS PICKETED
Le Mars, Iowa, Aug. 15—(AP)—More intensive picketing of highways and boycotts were reported today as farmers in this section of Iowa attempted to enforce their edict against marketing of farm products during a 30-day strike designed to raise prices.

From Kingsley came reports that 400 farmers had visited all produce dealers of that town and warned them not to open for business today under penalty of having all their goods thrown into the street if they disobeyed.

At Sioux City hundreds of farmers and their wives improvised barriers with their automobiles drawn across the highways and effectively bottled parts of the city against trucks bearing farm produce. Stock yard officials reported that no livestock truck traveling to the city from the north had reached its destination.

Although dozens of trucks had been stopped, no violence was reported.

WHEAT STRIKE SPREADS
Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 15—(AP)—The North Dakota wheat "strike" went into effect today with supporters claiming thousands of farmers will begin holding their wheat until the price reaches $1 a bushel.

Although the effect of withholding grain from the market was conjectured and viewed in some quarters as somewhat dubious of success, Dell N. Willis, Tolna, N. D., a grower and author of the plan, said the movement has gained headway in the two Dakotas, Montana, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon, Kansas Idaho and Texas.

Farmers have been asked to sign and adhere to resolutions setting the minimum price of wheat from the 1932 crop, having as its basis the Winnipeg price plus the 42-cent tariff with the usual discount for lower grades.

"STAY HOME, SELL NOTHING"
Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 15—(AP)—E. E. Kennedy, secretary of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, announced today the "holiday" of Illinois farmers striking for better prices was in effect.

Sale and delivery of farm products among members of the "holiday" association will stop for 30 days, Kennedy announced. The action is in line with that taken by farm groups in other states. The "strike" started at 5 A. M. today.

"Stay at home and sell nothing" was the slogan adopted by the member farmers.

Death Hiking Home

Lincoln, Ill., Aug. 15—(AP)—Byron Heinzel, 23, former Little Nineteen track star, died in El Paso Texas today of injuries he suffered in a train accident while returning home from the Olympic games yesterday.

News of his death was telegraphed to his mother, Mrs. Annabell T. Heinzel by A. H. Butler, Superintendent of the City-County Hospital at El Paso, where he was taken yesterday after both his legs were crushed by a freight train he was riding.

Heinzel first won recognition as a distance runner at Lincoln College and later starred in the Little Nineteen for Bradley Tech. His last year of competition was 1930.

After months of training for the 10,000 meter event, he hitch-hiked to Evanston but arrived too late to Evanston. He qualified in the 5,000 meter, however, and was given permission to enter Olympic preliminaries at Los Angeles.

Defeated there after hitch-hiking to the coast, he was making his way home by way of Texas.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 15—(AP)—Evidence was completed today in the case of Captain W. N. Lancaster charged with the murder of Haden Clarke after the young writer replaced him in the affection of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the attractive Australian aviatrix.

Testimony that he never heard Lancaster threaten the life of the writer was given at the flier's trial today by Joseph Ince of Detroit, former flying comrade of Lancaster.

Ince testified he met Lancaster in El Paso in April, with M. G. Tancrel.

Tancrel, who was in the west with Lancaster on an unsuccessful flying venture, previously testified that Lancaster threatened Clarke, in Ince's presence after hearing of his love affair with Mrs. Keith-Miller.

Women Breakfast In Air This Morn
Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden passed the breakfast hazard today and flew on into a train of heightened hope.

Last week the young matrons began an assault on the women's refueling flight endurance record of 122 hours, but were brought down after a night aloft when a breakfast bucket lowered from their refueling ship ripped wing fabric.

They went up again at 1 P. M. E. S. T. yesterday. This morning they refueled in the air and then succeeded in grabbing the coffee pail before it did any damage.

The first attempt lasted only about 17 hours but at breakfast time today the women had been in the air for 20 hours and the way seemed clear for another day of calm sailing.

J. L. Anderson Thrown Through Top Of His Car Today

J. L. Anderson, aged 38, of Milwaukee, traveling salesman for the Lindsey Automatic Refrigerator Co., was fatally injured this morning about 11 o'clock, when the Ford coupe he was driving, left the state highway route 70 paving, six miles south of Rochelle near the Howard Ackland farm. Anderson was driving south and is believed to have fallen asleep. The car, which was practically new, was almost demolished as it rolled end over end in the ditch along the highway.

The driver was thrown through the top of the machine and was thought to be dead when his body was found. When it was discovered that he was breathing faintly he was rushed to the hospital in Rochelle where he expired shortly afterward without becoming sufficiently conscious to give his name. It was some time after he was taken to the hospital before his identity was established. The fatal accident occurred about 12:30 o'clock.

WALKER'S FRIEND
TELLS GOVERNOR
HE'S "NOT SURE"

Disputes Testimony He Gave Before Legislative Committee

BULLETIN
Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15—(AP)—Governor F. D. Roosevelt, commenting during an argument with John J. Curtin counsel for Mayor James J. Walker, at today's hearing of ouster charges against the Mayor, declared public officials must be able to account for their private financial transactions. Several of the allegations upon which Walker's removal was demanded are based on the New York City Executive's private affairs.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15—(AP)—Walter R. Herrick, New York City Park Commissioner and friend of Mayor Walker, disputed a portion of his testimony before the Hofstadter committee, when he told Governor Roosevelt at the ouster hearing today he did not know for whom at the city hall he purchased 300 shares of stock.

Herrick, subpoenaed as a witness by Roosevelt, was the first to testify at the hearing, now in its third day other than Walker himself.

The 300 shares of Interstate Trust Company stock he bought in addition to an allotment for himself; later appeared as collateral for a loan to J. Allan Smith, which Samuel Seabury, Hofstadter committee investigator, claims was used to finance a campaign to obtain a bus franchise for the Equitable Coach Company.

Testimony "Wrong"
Seabury contends Walker profited from the granting of the franchise.

Roosevelt read a portion of Herrick's testimony at the Hofstadter committee session that there was no question in his mind that $39,000 to pay for the stock came from the Mayor.

"I think that's wrong," Herrick replied. "The money came, I thought, from Mr. Stanton."

Herrick twice answered that he "assumed" Stanton was acting for the Mayor.

The Governor read from the record of a private hearing of Herrick, in which he was quoted as saying the Mayor had told him "had put up his Interstate Stock for collateral."

Witness Not Sure
At the Hofstadter public hearing, Herrick said he was not sure the Mayor had made such a statement. He said again today he was uncertain.

As today's meeting opened it was freely reported that Roosevelt would today or tomorrow call on Seabury to produce some of the witnesses who testified against the Mayor Mrs. Walker who has recovered from her illness of last week, and Edward L. Stanton, former secretary to the Mayor, may be summoned to testify.

Washington, Aug. 15—(AP)—Detectives decided early today that chance and nothing else last night sent George Shinault, policeman slayer of a bonus marcher, to his death.

Shinault, already exonerated by a coroner's jury for shooting William Hushka, Chicago veteran, in the rioting July 28, was cruising about the Capital last night in scout car when there came radio orders to stop a fight in a Negro neighborhood.

He and Ralph B. Edwards, the patrolman who was with him, went at once. When the police car stopped near the scene of the reported fight, Shinault was first to leap out and dash into the house.

Edwards heard two shots and Shinault raced back, kneeling beside the police car and saying: "Edwards, that fellow's got a gun."

Then he fell over, dead, with two pistol bullet wounds in his chest. The latest killing was just a few blocks from where Shinault shot Hushka when veterans, hurling bricks, advanced on him.

At Least 22 Met Death In Hurricane Late Saturday Night

BULLETIN
Houston, Texas, Aug. 15—(AP)—The list of dead in Saturday's hurricane along the Texas coast was increased to 26 this afternoon as reports were received from heretofore isolated areas.

The latest victim was an unidentified white man whose body was found on Galveston beach near the San Luis Pass life saving station. Two other men were reported missing.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 15—(AP)—A tropical hurricane, a eerie, whistling note adding to the terror caused by a deluge and gale, killed at least 22 persons, injured scores and did more damage to cotton than to shipping as it swept in from the gulf of Mexico Saturday night and finally spent its force late Sunday.

Striking first at the island city of Galveston, protected by a sea wall, the storm reached in from the coast some 200 miles, then veered southwest, and did most of its damage to inland sections. No deaths were reported from Galveston, devastated by a hurricane in 1900, although the city was in darkness through Saturday night and isolated from the mainland due to loss of power and communication lines.

Crops Damaged
While shipping interests reported comparatively light damage, G. C. Ellisor, Harris county agricultural agent, said the damage to the cotton crop alone would exceed $1,000,000. Rice and corn crops also were ruined.

The death toll was expected to rise higher as communication was reestablished with smaller communities. Red Cross aid was sought by Freeport and Eagle Lake. W. E. Welford, mayor of Eagle Lake, said the families of hundreds of tenant farmers in that section were distressed.

Wind 70 Mi. Per Hour
The death list mounted today as farming communities near the Gulf Coast, surveyed widespread damage from the hurricane, which raked the vicinity of Houston and Galveston.

Most of the fatalities were in villages or on farms about 30 miles southwest of Galveston, where the greatest force of the storm apparently centered at is whistled inland from the tumbling waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Crops were ruined over a wide stretch of the coastal country, the heaviest loss being in cotton. Galveston, protected by its sea wall, and Houston escaped damage of major proportions, although windows were smashed, some buildings unroofed and bath houses and small frame structures demolished. The wind rose to 70 miles an hour here.

State's Need Is

Chicago, Aug. 15—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, in a report to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, today estimated Illinois will need $26,279,475 from Federal funds for relief in distressed areas of the state during the last five months of 1932.

The estimate was based on funds expended during 1931 and the first six months of this year. The amount needed from the Federal government, the commission said, was the difference between the estimated expenditures and the amount available from local funds.

The various counties, "The estimate covers future cash needs only," the report said. "It has been assumed that future local donations of food, clothing and so on and the future distribution of flour through the Red Cross will continue at approximately the present level."

Tried To Cross Bridge Before He Came To It; Fined

F. A. Rogers and wife did not heed the old adage which advises one against crossing a bridge before coming to it, and had to thank the small rustic stone fountain and pool on the Illinois North ern Utilities Company property on Ottawa Avenue and East River street for being alive and uninjured today. Last evening, Rogers with his wife, drove north on Ottawa Avenue, planning to cross the river. At River street Rogers drove straight ahead across the switch track and into the rustic fountain knocking it from its mooring and his car came to a stop in the pool.

Mrs. Rogers in alighting from the car stepped into the pool, but was rescued quickly. Rogers was taken to the police station and locked up while police conducted an investigation. This morning a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition was filed before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson, and when Rogers pleaded guilty, he was assessed a fine of $100 and costs, which he was unable to pay, and was sent to the county jail.

According to the police Rogers, a wholesale paint salesman, of Davenport, Iowa, claimed to have been present at a drinking party in the west end of the city yesterday afternoon and evening and had mistaken Ottawa Avenue for the location of one of the bridges across Rock River. The fact that the fountain and pool were located as they were prevented the car from continuing over the high bank and diving into Rock River. The car was considerably damaged and was taken to a garage.

Dorland is reported to have told the deputies who placed him under arrest that he had been active in the retail alcohol traffic in Ashton for almost five years, and that he had feared being apprehended and planned to end his flourishing business within the next two weeks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 14.

The Golden Text was, "Now the shall just live by faith; but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him. But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul" (Hebrews 10:38, 39).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation. He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defence; I shall not be greatly moved. My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:1, 2, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind is the Soul of man, and gives man dominion over all things" (p. 307).

Over the weekend, Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, urged modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment and an immediate change in the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of "non-intoxicating beer."

Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, speaking for himself and the National Temperance Bureau, said Mr. Hoover's re-election "is favored because he follows a constructive and not a destructive course" on prohibition; F. Scott McBride, General Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said neither presidential candidate was acceptable to the league, which would "support those candidates who stand definitely committed to opposition to either repeal or modification."

WATER LILIES
Water lilies; Swimming, swaying, and floating
In a pool of silver,
Creamy, lemon, rose, and crimson,
Cups of sunset glory.

Smiling up with golden rays
To greet a golden sun.
And as the wind ruffles and disturbs the pool
The circling ripples
Open into rings of light;
And the tinted chalices
Dip and poise and swing
In the eddying currents
Of air and water.

Their smooth round leaves
Lie like green islands;
Or go drifting, drifting,
Till suddenly they rise and turn
Like fairy boats that hoist each winged sail
And faint would cast away
From anchorage; to fly and find
A far still, shore of silence
Where are no changing winds,
But even light illumined,
A mirrored calm, and sweet tranquility.

W.C.T.U. to Develop "Policy Political Action" In Convention

Seattle, Aug. 15—(AP)—Organization of an informal committee by leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in convention here, to develop a "policy of political action," indicated today that although unable to endorse either of the two major presidential candidates, the Union would not remain idle while no forces of prohibition repeal seek victory.

The "political action" committee is composed of two Republicans, three Democrats and Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of New York City, a member of the newly-formed Law Preservation Party in New York state.

The Republicans are Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president, and Mrs. Ida B. Wise, vice president, of Des Moines, Ia.; the Democrats are Mrs. Nellie Burger of Springfield, Mo., Mrs. Minnie Welch of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Mary Harris Armour of Atlanta.

The strategy discussed by the committee would call for election of drys to Congress with the understanding they would seek to prevent passage of any resolutions to repeal or weaken national prohibition.

However, should such resolutions pass Congress, then the committee believes an attempt should be made to see that state legislatures, rather than state conventions, act upon the proposed changes, feeling that conventions might be stampeded.

Delegates heard Amos Woodcock, director of Prohibition, declare last night that the private violator was the real problem of national prohibition, although he is almost immune from the direct action of the law itself.

Good-Miller Reunion Lowell Pk.

Yesterday at Lowell Park the Good-Miller reunion was held, which was attended by 135 people.

At 12:30 a bountiful picnic dinner was served, and was much enjoyed by all. Games and sports of all kinds occupied the happy occasion, for some while others who had not seen each other for a long period, were content to visit.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year with C. M. Good of Haldane being elected president; Fred Good of Savanna, vice president and Miss Imelda Good of Polo was elected the secretary and treasurer.

Everyone present had a most delightful day and are already anticipating with pleasure the picnic of next summer.

Miss Barlow And Milton Vaupel Honored Saturday Eve

Saturday evening thirty-eight friends of Miss Olive Barlow and Milton Vaupel were entertained at the home of Miss Marjorie Wolcott, near Amboy, at which time a miscellaneous show was given the popular young couple, who are to be married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Amboy Lutheran church, and who will live on the bridegroom's farm south of Ashton.

Various games and stunts were enjoyed and a mock wedding was a feature with Miss Ruth McMahon as the bride, Mrs. Mildred Barnickie as bridegroom and Mrs. Preston Wolcott performing the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Marjorie Wolcott, who also sang a parody on "O Promise Me."

A buffet luncheon was served, the table being beautifully lighted by green candles in silver candelabra and each end of the lace-covered table. The favors were miniature green parasols.

The gifts were presented to the guests of honor in a novel manner. The bride and bridegroom-to-be were seated on two chairs draped in green and white on "Love's Throne," most of the gifts being placed on the opposite side of the room under a green-ruffled crepe paper parasol, with a few gifts placed between the parasol and the throne. The honored guests were told these were the stepping stones to their happiness.

Much merriment was caused when the gifts were unwrapped and the poetry accompanying each was read. It was shown that much poetical talent as present.

Later the guests joined in singing which completed an unusually happy evening. Guests were present from Dysart, Ia., Whitewater, Wis., Chicago, Ashton and Amboy.

Miss Wolcott was assisted in entertaining by Ruth McMahon, Mrs. Mildred Barnickie and Mrs. Mildred June, the latter a recent bride.

Old Hapsburg Family Welcomes Ileana's Son

Moedling, Austria, Aug. 15—(AP)—The newest member of the 900-year-old Hapsburg family, an 8-pound boy, was born today to former Princess Ileana of Rumania and her husband, Archduke Anton.

It was a birth befitting the tiny descendant of a line of powerful Kings. The Princess was attended by two Queens, her mother, Dowager Queen Marie, and her sister, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia. His father also was in the household.

The baby was born at 4 A. M. Just before dawn broke over the ancient walls of Moedling castle which was closely guarded. For several days Austria's police have taken every precaution against troublemakers, who it was thought, might seize upon the presence of so much royalty to make a demonstration.

The Princess and the baby were both doing well, it was announced. The boy will be named Stephan. He is 21 inches long and has the traditional Hapsburg blond hair.

What his citizenship will be was not settled, but the general belief was that he would be an Austrian, as so many of his ancestors have been. His father, the Archduke, is still an Austrian citizen, although he has been absent from the country much of the time for several years.

Met at P. Kofoed Home on Friday; Delightful Meeting

The Harmon Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Peter Kofoed on Friday, August 12. In the absence of the president, the vice president, Mrs. Perkins, conducted the meeting.

The session was opened with a number of "pup songs" by the unit. The secretary's report was read and accepted by motion.

The lesson given by the local leader, Mrs. Kugler was a review of the past year's work on "Nutrition." Mrs. Kugler gave a comprehensive resume on the subject after which the roll was called, each member answering the question: "What Have I Learned from the Year's Study of Nutrition?"

A number of interesting points were brought out. One lady said that if she had been a member of the Home Bureau a few years sooner she would have saved the time and expense of a sanitarium. The sanitarium was just about the same as those received in the Home Bureau course.

At this point the meeting was enlivened by a short program.

Miss Mildred Laursen sang and played her own accompaniment on the guitar.

Misses Lenora and Mabel Kofoed favored with a piano duet.

After this enjoyable respite the work of the coming year was discussed.

The subject "Home Furnishing" will be considered.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Girls from Walgreen Office Entertained

Girls from the main offices of the Walgreen Drug Company of Chicago, had a gala day Sunday, which they spent as invited guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walgreen owner of the large chain of drug stores and his charming wife, at Hazelwood, their beautiful summer home on Rock River.

The young ladies numbered about sixty, and what a happy day they had in swimming, boating, hiking and games of all kinds.

The guests, who motored out in the early morning were in love with Hazelwood and the entire Rock River Valley in this section. They said they had expected much from reading about Hazelwood, but their anticipations were more than realized. The dignity and form of office life were forgotten and all were little girls again. At noon a bountiful dinner was a feature, and there were refreshments and cooling drinks served all day. It was a tired but happy group of girls and young women who thanked the host and hostess for the outing, and all were eager to accept the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Walgreen to "come again."

A feature of this program was a game of kitten ball between a team from the local parish and St. Mary's parish in Sterling's which was won by the latter by a score of 1 to 0. It was probably the largest picnic in the history of St. Patrick's parish and was attended by many from surrounding parishes.

Views of Judge Horner to be such as above credited to him by The Telegraph but is advised of the position of Small on the subject of re-districting the State. In his first inaugural message delivered before the Fifty-second General Assembly, January 19, 1921, Governor Small said:

"The re-districting of the State into Senatorial and congressional districts, on the basis of population as shown by the 1920 Federal Census, is a matter requiring urgent attention. Such lines should be established with reference strictly to the equal representation of the people, and their convenience in choosing representatives, who reflect their will, and without regard to partisan or factional considerations."

Why is it that you are not condemning Ex-Governor Small for advocating equal representation for Chicago?

A LESSON WE MUST LEARN.

It is beginning to look very much as if the end of the depression were just about in sight. The upturn probably won't be rapid, but it at least ought to be steady; and if at last it is at hand, the nation will be as truly thankful as if a long and arduous war had ended.

But there are one or two things the depression has taught us, and it is to be hoped that we can remember them after good times return.

First and foremost, the depression has taught us that our utter lack of any organized system to prevent recurrence of the unemployment cycle is almost criminally stupid.

Secondly, it has proved pretty clearly that our hit-or-miss way of taking care of the victims of the unemployment cycle is about as unsatisfactory as it possibly could be.

And when one ponders over these facts it is a little hard to understand why there are still die-hard who protest loudly against any plans for state old age and unemployment insurance.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce the other day issued a blast on these allied subjects. It declared that such proposals are "socialistic" and it predicted that they would "undermine and weaken" the character of the people.

Now here is a point worth looking at.

Possibly the sturdy self-reliance of the wage-earner would suffer if the wage-earner knew that the state had instituted a system whether he would be guaranteed a pittance if his factory had to shut down. But you might take a few minutes off, sometime, and consider whether our present system, or lack of system, is not ever more fatal to self-reliance and ambition.

Go to the breadlines and see if the private charity that has got us through this depression has not "undermined and weakened" the character of its recipients. Go out with the social workers into the homes of families which have lived on free handouts for a year, or two years, and see what has happened there. Then ask yourself if a system of state unemployment and old age insurance could possibly be any more harmful.

THOREAU—WILL HIS IDEAS BE ACCEPTED AT LAST?

It is hardly surprising that the celebration recently held at Concord, Mass., in honor of the 115th birthday anniversary of Henry David Thoreau did not attract more attention.

Only a small crowd attended, and news of the event got scant attention outside of Concord. And this, in spite of the fact that Thoreau ranks as one of the greatest thinkers and writers the nation has yet produced, is only natural; for Thoreau preached a doctrine that has a strange sound in the America of today.

Thoreau, as you doubtless remember, went to a little pond on the edge of Walden, built a little cabin there and lived as a sort of hermit. He wanted to prove that most of us spend our lives struggling to get things that don't really do us much good when we get them, and he undertook to prove it, not only by his writings, but by his way of living.

But the nation has got a long way from the "simple life" program as Thoreau saw it. If America two decades before the Civil War was too much engrossed in a frantic effort to get non-essential things and do non-essential deeds, what would you call it today? Thoreau's time was a time of placid leisure by comparison.

Thoreau never lived to see the era of mass-production and mass-distribution, of installment purchasing plans and high-pressure salesmanship, of speeding automobiles and blaring radios. The sworn enemy of the go-getter, he passed from the scene long before the go-getter really came into his own. Perhaps it is just as well. His own age found him a bit freakish; ours has even less time to listen to him.

But it may be that the man's philosophy will yet come into its own. In the last few years we have had abundant cause to wonder if our high-speed society is really getting us anywhere. We are not quite as sure, now, as we were three or four years ago that an ultra-complex civilization is man's noblest achievement.

Sooner or later we are apt to turn back and look for a more easy-going, less hectic way of life—one in which the accumulation of material things counts for less and human happiness bulks large. And when we do, we shall recognize the greatness of Thoreau.

It is only by continued vigilance that this treaty (Kellogg Pact) can be built into an effective, living reality. The American people are serious in their evaluation and support of the treaty. They will not fail to do their share in its behalf.—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state.

If you want to be happy, be jealous. If I had the power to create a perfect woman, I would surely mix among her virtues a grain of jealousy.—Marlene Dietrich, movie actress.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW TAXES

WHERE THEY HIT YOU—AND HOW!

By ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Stock transfers:

Selling price less than $20—2c per share; 4c per share.

Selling price $20 or more—2c per share; 5c per share.

Bond transfers—none; 4c per $100.

Stock or bond issues—5c per $100; 10c per $100.

Conveyances—None; 50c per $500.

Produce futures—1c per $100; 5c per $100.

Accumulate stocks and bonds now and pay a tax to Uncle Sam.

Die and leave them to somebody else—and do the same.

Stamp taxes imposed by the new 1932 revenue law put a toll on transactions in securities approximately twice as high as the taxes under the old law, and impose a brand new tax on bond transfers and real estate conveyances. The tax on produce futures was made five times as much.

The new stamp taxes, designed to yield $45,500,000, are given in the above table in comparison with the old rates.

"Nothing is certain but death and taxes," says the old adage, and under Uncle Sam's new law, death and taxes join hands to help the federal treasury.

The new estate tax applies to estates of persons who die after 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, June 6, 1932 (the hour President Hoover signed the revenue law).

It reduces the exemption from $100,000 to $50,000. On net estates above this exemption, the rate is one per cent on the first additional.

$10,000 and graduates upward to 45 percent on estates of more than $10,000,000. This new tax is more than double the levy in the 1928 law, and the excess over the 1928 rates is no subject to any credit for inheritance taxes paid to the various states.

A rich man cannot dodge payment by giving his money away, since the federal gift tax is now retained to forestall such evasion. On the average, the gift tax rates are about 25 per cent less than the estate tax.

Race Is Becoming Hot-test In Years Six Weeks Before End

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Whatever the scientific improbability of two or more objects occupying the same space at the same time, the eight club of the National League are busily trying to demonstrate that it can be done.

With the end of the season only six weeks away, the clubs are so closely bunched that an attempt to pick the winner can be classed as pure suicide. Chicago's Cubs still lead the parade but their margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates is only half a game with the Brooklyn Dodgers another game and a half to the bad. The Phillies, Boston Braves and St. Louis Cardinals follow at such brief intervals that the Cardinals are only six games out of first place.

The Cubs lost valuable ground yesterday as they surrendered two games to the Cardinals, 2-0, and 2-1 in 10 innings. Tex Carleton spaced seven cubs hits in the opener and Dizzy Dean gave up only six in the nightcap and struck out eight men, six in a row.

Set New Record
Brooklyn, driving ahead toward the lead, marked time for the day by splitting two games with the New York Giants, winning the first 2-1 in 10 innings and dropping the second, 8-4. Johnny Frederick set up a new major league record when he clouted a home run in a pinch-hitter's role for the fourth time this season. Frederick's homer, coming with two out in the ninth frame of the first game, tied the score and the Dodgers then won the battle in the next frame. The Giants mauled three Dodger pitchers for 13 hits to win the second game.

The Cincinnati Reds, in last place but only 13 games out of the lead, moved over the Boston Braves twice, 3-1 and 9-3, getting excellent pitching from Red Lucas and St. Johnson.

Yanks Increase Lead

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to nine games by whipping Washington, 5-4. Lefty Gomez won his 20th victory of the season although he was knocked out of the box in the ninth when a Senator rally left one run short of tying the score.

The Philadelphia Athletics clubbed out a 6-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the first game as Jimmie Foxx hit his 43rd homer but Johnny Welch pitched the Sox to a 2-0 shutout in the nightcap, allowing eight scattered hits.

Tom Bridges stopped the Cleveland Indians with five hits and drove in two runs as Detroit won a 3-0 triumph that dropped the Indians another half game behind the Athletics.

The St. Louis Browns won two games from the Chicago White Sox, 5-0 and 9-5. Bump Hadley allowed only five hits in the opener and Sam Gray pitched as well as he had to in the second game after his teammates had given him an 8-0 lead.

The Grimms at Home

Charley Grimm, new manager of the Chicago Cubs, prefers playing in St. Louis rather than any other National League city and here is the reason. Charley is shown in the garden of his home in St. Louis county, with Mrs. Grimm and their daughter, May Gene.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—C. V. (Sonny) Whitneys Top Flight, undefeated two-year-old filly, took the Saratoga Special, worth $11,000 and a gold cup, by romping home a length in front of Indian Runner in 1:12 for the six furlongs.

Five Years Ago Today—Jimmy Maloney, 202, of Boston, was knocked out in 1 minute and 25 seconds of the first round by George Godfrey, 233, giant negro heavyweight, in their bout before 18,000 persons in Philadelphia.

Ten Years Ago Today—Competing for Johnny Kilbaine's featherweight championship declared forfeited by the New York Athletic Commission, Johnny Dundee knocked out Dany Frush in the ninth of the scheduled 15-round affair at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

track and field sports, while the Pacific northwest contributed Helene Madison, only double winner of the swimming battle. Eastern stalwarts like Leo Sexton and John Anderson asserted their supremacy in the weight tossing duels, besides the contribution of Philadelphia's oarsmen to the nation's rowing triumph. The south's Eddie Flynn of New Orleans gave a skillful boxing exhibition that helped add another team victory to the big list.

As a climax California's unbeaten eight-oared crew came along to beat off Italy's remarkable challenge and make safe another long-cherished item of American supremacy. It was only by the fleeting margin of one-fifth of a second the Americans won the big boat race, with Canada and Great Britain a close third and fourth but it was enough to keep intact their own and their country's undefeated record in this competition.

Next One In Berlin

For the celebration of the next Olympiad, at Berlin in 1936, the record books have been almost completely re-written in swimming and track sports. Due to a variety of causes, chiefly the competitive pace and the favorable conditions, Olympic records fell in 25 of the 29 track and field events for men and women, and in 10 of the 11 swimming races. Eleven world records, all told, were toppled in track and field events and two more in the Olympic pool.

Records, too, were shattered for attendance in every Olympic sport with track and field alone drawing nearly half of the aggregate paid attendance of 1,000,000 for all events. The Olympic Stadium was packed to its capacity of 105,400 for the opening ceremonies and over 100,000 were on hand yesterday to see the games officially closed and the flaming torch extinguished.

Unlisted Team In Final At Stadium

Los Angeles, Aug. 15—(AP)—A track team of five men and two women—unlisted as an entry by Olympic games officials—ran for a short time on the track at Olympic stadium during the closing ceremony of the 1932 games yesterday.

They were pursued by police, taken to jail and held on charges of suspicion of criminal syndicalism.

Allegedly members of a Communist organization, the seven leaped from stadium seats to the track, divested themselves of civilian clothes and appeared in track suits on which were emblazoned the words "Free Tom Mooney." Mooney is serving a life sentence for his conviction of participation in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing of 1916.

GIRL TWIRLER HURLS VICTORY FOR DIXON TEAM

Gertrude Brown Holds Moline Team To A Single Bingle

Mis Gertrude Brown of Rockford, sensational 18-year-old girl baseball pitcher, on the mound for the William B. Johnson Shoe Company, Sunday afternoon, held the Moline Uptown Boosters to a single hit the game being witnessed by the largest crowd of the season. The final score was 6 to 2 in favor of the Shoemakers, the visitors' runs being scored on passes and errors.

Miss Brown, who is about five feet, four inches tall and weighs 10 pounds, performed like a veteran on the mound, mixing up fast curves and slow balls that completely baffled the Moliners. In the first six innings but four of the visitors reached first base, two on walks and two errors and only one reached second.

In the first half of the seventh, the first Moliner fanned, the next one walked and was caught off first, but a wild throw to second, which went into center field permitted him to score the first run with the aid of the single hit. In the ninth inning after two were out, Palmer of the visitors was walked, stole second and scored when the right fielder of the shoemakers dropped a fly ball.

The Shoemakers scored two runs in the second inning, one in the fourth and three in the seventh. Kehrt, playing center for Dixon, played a sensational game in his position. The box score:

Week's Fisticuffs Promise To Be Dull

New York, Aug. 15—(AP)—One Italian, Salvatore Ruggirello, halted Stanley Poreda's climb toward the top of the heavyweight lists early this year. Now another and bigger one, Primo Carnera, menaces the Jersey City slugger's comeback campaign.

Poreda was hailed as one of the best of the younger heavyweights, a powerful hitter with either hand, until he blocked one of Ruggirello's pile-driving rights with his chin last January.

Undiscouraged, Poreda began the long climb upward again and a few weeks ago hung up a sensational victory over Ernie Schaaf of Boston. Tomorrow night at Newark the boy will attempt to hurdle another formidable obstacle in the huge person of Carnera.

This bout tops a dull boxing program this week. The only other offering of much account is Benny Leonard's six round tangle with Mike Sarko at the Long Beach Stadium here Friday.

3500 HEADS GONE
Birmingham, Ala.—After 5000 heads were cut off, 3500 of them were stolen! That's a tale of carnage, but a story of missing cabbage. The Red Cross succeeded in raising 5000 heads of cabbage and then, after they were ready for distribution, somebody stole 3500 heads.

If you have any news items—social or otherwise—call The Telegraph No. 5.

ARK WAVED AT 'EM
Says Earl Webb, Detroit outfielder: "When I was with Boston and Bob Burke had a no-hit game in his hip pocket in the ninth inning I went up and waved at three of them. It's no use taking a record away from a guy just for a base hit."

Says Bridges, himself: "If they can get a hit off you, you don't deserve a no-hit game. It wouldn't be worth anything if you didn't earn it."

Says Bucky Harris: "Walter Johnson himself would have pitched a perfect game if it hadn't been for me. I made the error—it was in 1920 when I was with Washington—and my muff let the only runner get on base."

Says Joe Judge, again: "We had another game in Washington a few years ago. Ted Lyons had shut us without a hit and two were out in the ninth. Bob Veach walked up and cracked out a double."

Says Heinie Manush: "Bridges should have thrown Harris a curve ball instead of a fast one. Harris is a sucker for a curve ball."

And what do you say, yourself?

LOBERT AND OVERALL
Here's a story about an old baseball friendship that endured brightly through the stress of a similar incident. The characters were Hans Lobert of the Cincinnati Reds and Orvie Overall, Cub pitcher of the great Chicago teams early in the century.

Whenever the Reds and Cubs met, Lobert and Overall were inseparable buddies. They went to shows together, visited at each other's homes, sat together in hotel lobbies.

One year the Cubs were fighting for the pennant. It was near the end of the season, and the Reds were far down in the second division, going nowhere. The Cubs with a slight lead came to Cincinnati. For eight innings, Overall set down the side without a run. The Cubs had a one-run lead.

LOBERT BREAKS IT UP
In the ninth, the Reds managed to get two men on, and Lobert came to bat. Hans took a mighty cut at the first ball and drove out the hit that scored his mates with the winning run. On the way to the clubhouse, Hans caught up with his pal. He took his arm.

"Sorry, Orvie," said Lobert. Overall turned and patted him on the shoulder.

Two walked arm in arm to the clubhouse. The Cubs lost the pennant that year by a narrow margin. But the friendship between Hans Lobert and Orvie Overall went on just the same.

There was the bond between square shooters, and it was stronger than pennant desires or whatever you care to name.

Soft Ball Loops To Close Season
GAMES TONIGHT
Merchants vs. Brady Villagers—South field.
Highlanders vs. Ideal Cafe—North field.
Swissville Grocers vs. City Dudes—Independent field.

The schedule of the American and National Leagues will draw to a close with this week's game. The league officials will announce in a few days the dates for the playing of the city series which will decide the championship. It is likely that a series of five games will be played next week to decide the title, the games to be alternated on the three fields.

Several of the members of the teams which have participated in the most successful schedule, are making plans for a county Kitten ball tournament to be played at the Independent field with

MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is in love with BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, whom she met through STEVE SACCA-RELLI, her childhood sweetheart. Steve and Barry have just returned from South America where—largely by chance—Steve became associated with Barry in operating a diamond mine, once believed worthless but now valuable. Steve owns a huge diamond called "The Empress of Peru," a Gauguin to steal the stone but he outwits them. Steve has earned Mona's gratitude by befriending her estranged brother, BUD, sending him to South America and giving him a job in the mine.

Mona needs $500 for hospital treatments for her invalid father. Her employer agrees to loan her the money and then makes an amazing proposal. He tells Mona a wealthy client of the firm wishes to marry her immediately with the understanding she shall occupy her own apartment, have unlimited accounts and do whatever she wishes for one year. At the end of that time she may become the man's wife in actuality or as a divorce. She asks the man's name and is told it is Barry Townsend.

Mona agrees. Her friend, LOTTIE CARR, model in a fashionable dress shop, helps her select her wedding costume.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

THE Townsend limousine arrived at Lottie's apartment promptly at 10 o'clock. It remained there waiting until well after 11 because Mona and Lottie had set out at 9:30 to shop. On the list were shoes, hose, gloves, purse and even a rose-point handkerchief.

Lottie's suit, donned with much twirling and twisting before the mirror, had been pronounced exactly right for Mona. Both girls agreed that it was far better than a new one, hastily selected and not fitted properly.

Lottie selected a blouse to go with it. "You look simply adorable," she told Mona as she tucked a stray lock carefully beneath the new blue hat.

She surveyed Mona approvingly, then dropped to her knees and busied herself with the hem of the skirt. "You say they're opening accounts for you," she went on, rising and scowling at the refractory hem.

"And you're not even going to live at Twilands. Wonder why?"

"I'm to spend the year—or most of it except the hot months—at the town house," Mona repeated patiently.

"Learning to be a lady I suppose! Using the right fork. Which sauce to order with the fish. Learning to be a credit to the Townsend family."

"Well, I've a lot to learn," she said.

served Mona. "And I do want to be a credit to them!"

"What I mean is this," the other girl interrupted. "When you get back right after the ceremony you're going to find time heavy on your hands. No job, no house work. Just time to kill. Well, suppose we step out and buy your clothes together. Maybe I dress like a vamp myself but I know what the well-dressed young 63rd street wife should wear. That will take up part of your time. Of course I'll be as busy as a bee myself but I can get off now and then."

"Busy as which bee?" asked Mona, wrinkling her nose, her disturbing thoughts for a moment forgotten.

"Busy as which bee?" asked Mona, wrinkling her nose, her disturbing thoughts for a moment forgotten.

"And earned twice what they paid you," Mona said promptly.

"Do you have everything?" Lottie paused at the door to ask. "Take a last look at this place, Miss Moran. Maybe Mrs. Townsend won't be able to get here often."

"Don't be like that!" Mona's voice was distressed. "You know I'll always keep all my old friends."

Lottie slammed the door shut, tried to make sure of the lock and tossed the key into her purse.

It was a trim little bride whom Jackson, the chauffeur, saluted before he opened the door of the car with a low bow. Privately Jackson decided that the other young lady was decidedly attractive too.

The chauffeur, thinking of his own happy but frowny little wife back in the country, sighed.

The car glided up Seventh avenue to the park. "I've got an idea!" Lottie announced suddenly. Staying protests with a smoothly gloved hand, she leaned forward.

"Jackson," she called through the window which she had opened, ignoring the speaking tube. "Has Mr. Saccarelli's yellow roadster been at Twilands lately? He's a friend of mine. I thought maybe I'd see him today."

"The yellow roadster?" Jackson thought a moment. "Yes, miss. The yellow roadster was there yesterday. Not at the garage because Mr. Steve never bothers to drive to the garage. I saw the roadster last night parked by the hedge."

Lottie surveyed Mona triumphantly.

"Was it there this morning, Jackson?"

son? Is Mr. Steve staying over for the wedding? You've heard about the wedding, I suppose?"

Who indeed in the Townsend employ had not heard about the wedding? But Jackson's reply was circumspect. "Beggins your pardon, Miss, about the roadster I could not say. I left early to do some errands for Mr. Townsend."

"You didn't see it then beside the hedge this morning?"

Jackson smiled. "Mr. Steve used it last night. That's all I know. I saw him get into it when I drove the doctor to the station. That's the only time I saw it. Of course," apologetically, "Mr. Steve never parks it twice in the same place."

"And Twilands is full of parking places, isn't it?" offered Lottie. "That Steve would be there. He'd be best man, most likely and she maid of honor—or whatever you could call it when the wedding takes place in a sick room."

THEY rode now in silence. The sun was shining and spring was in the air. A tender haze of green filled the distant fields and finally the dim outlines of Twilands raised above the sheltering branches across the valley.

Lottie craned her neck as the car entered the gate but failed to spy Steve's car.

"Listen, honey," she whispered as they drew up before the door, "if you want to back out right now I'm with you. Nobody on earth can make you go through with this if you don't want to."

Jimmy appeared at the door, his face beaming. "Mr. Garretson will be down directly, Miss," he told Mona. "I wish you much happiness, Miss, if I may be so bold."

He turned to the stairway and, bowing, pointed the way into the drawing room.

The room was empty. From a drawer in a table the butler drew out a package. It was a long, flat jeweler's box. "Mr. Steve asked me to give you this, Miss," he said. "Privately, Miss. He said you would understand."

"Mr. Steve?" Lottie exclaimed. "He's here?"

Jimmy shook his head. "No, Miss. He's gone. But he asked me to deliver the package before the wedding, Miss."

Lottie turned in dismay to Mona who stood with the open jewel case in her hand. It was the necklace and Mona had promised to wear it on her wedding day.

Mechanically she slipped the thin chain of diamonds about her neck and fastened the clasp.

"Gone?" Lottie repeated. "You mean Steve didn't want to stay for the wedding, Jimmy?"

"Hardly, I think, Miss. You see—"

WHATSOEVER Lottie was to see could not be explained at the moment. Mr. Garretson entered the room and, murmuring, the butler bowed himself out.

"Ah, Miss Moran!" Mr. Garretson was saying. "And I'm glad to know you, Miss Carr. You both look very charming."

"The gardener, sir, with the bouquet, Jimmy's voice came from the doorway.

The old gardener, hat in hand, shuffled forward to present an offering of delicate pink roses. "I've made every bridal bouquet for Twilands in 30 years," he said.

"It's beautiful. Thank you!"

"And you, Miss, if I may say so, are beautiful too."

Mr. Garretson turned to Mona approvingly. "The ceremony is to take place in the sick room," he said. "Townsend had a slight relapse last evening. Oh, nothing serious! But we thought it best not to allow him to rise. The doctor and nurse are there with the minister. Miss Lottie and I are to be the official witnesses."

In silence they climbed the stairs. The staircase seemed interminable to Mona but they reached the top and moved down the dim, wide hall. Nearer and nearer to Barry's door. Which one would it be? Ah, here!

"Everything's ready, sir," a nurse whispered. She moved aside as Mona, large-eyed, clutching the roses, followed Mr. Garretson's gesture and stepped within.

If only they could give her one moment, just one, alone with him! "Mr. Townsend has been very ill," the nurse said softly.

The sick man, lying back on his pillows, opened his eyes. It was not Barry. Mona understood it all in a flash! It was Barry's uncle—the tall, slender man who had been luncheon with Mr. Garretson at the Savarin!

The stern eyes, opening, held the girl's for a long moment. "Miss Moran?" he said. "Thank you for coming. I'm sorry my rascally nephew can't be here to witness our marriage. He insisted on sailing for South America last night."

STREET PARADE IS FEATURE OF COMING CIRCUS

Downie Bros., which is under the personal management of Charles Sparks, veteran showman, is said to be the largest circus on the road that still retains the old-time street parade. Kilgore stated that he still retains the old-time street parade.

STATE CAMPAIGN READY TO START IN EARNEST SOON

Leaders Of Both Parties
Predict A Red Hot
Drive For Votes

By RAY BRENNAN

Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, Aug. 15—(AP)—Illinois 1932 political campaign starts out in earnest this week, lacking a single national issue but replete with furious battles over staff offices.

Leaders of both Republican and Democratic parties announced today their campaign organizations are practically complete. Members of the state organization already have mapped out speaking tours.

Already in the field are the leaders of the two party slates—Judge Henry Horner and Len Small, Democratic and Republican nominees for Governor. Otis F. Glenn, the Republican incumbent, and William H. Dieterich are ready to embark on their battle for United States Senator.

From Kankakee came reports today that groups of prominent Republicans from all parts of the state call almost daily at the home of former Governor Small. Many of them bring invitations for Small to appear at county and local gatherings, and he has accepted a number of them in recent weeks.

On the Democratic side, Judge Horner has spent nearly every day since the primary election on a "get acquainted" and speaking tour of downstate counties. He will continue his journeyings until September 3, when he plans to return to Chicago for a few days before starting to cover the state a second time.

Predict Hot Campaign
Two party leaders in Chicago—
George T. Scully of the Democrats and Judge Franklin J. Stransky, Republican—predicted the campaign will be one of the hottest in Illinois history.

"We have built up what we consider an excellent organization for the campaign," Judge Stransky said. "We could start out full blast tomorrow and operate efficiently—but we don't want to do so."

"The campaign will be kept going steadily from now on, but the real fireworks will not begin before September 1. Many of our more ambitious party members are anxious to start out immediately, and we're having trouble to restrain them."

Appointment of Silas Strawn as Treasurer for the campaign practically completed the Republican organization, and the first state wide activity came last Thursday when meetings were held in scores of communities for radio broadcasts of President Hoover's acceptance speech.

"Judge Horner and Dieterich, augmented by local speakers over the state, will uphold the Democratic campaign until we open up about Labor Day," Scully said.
"However, we've gotten together the best organization the party ever has had in Illinois, and the Democrats will cover more ground than they ever have before."

Democratic leaders plan to carry a "victory message" this week to their presidential nominee, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Albany, N. Y. In the past, state chairman and candidate for Lieutenant Governor, P. M. Nash, Cook county chairman, and State Senator James J. Courtney, candidate for State's Attorney for Cook county.

HOOVER CALLS CONFERENCE OF BUSINESS MEN

Outlines Program For A Meeting Aug. 26:
Goes Fishing

Washington, Aug. 15—(AP)—On board Chesapeake Bay President Hoover today sought a fisherman's freedom from work.

Just like lots of others, he wanted a cooling sea breeze on his face and battling fish on his line. The small party that was with him aboard the Commerce Department's 110-foot Sequoia showed he intended to rest more than anything else. It was a "stag" party, so Mrs. Hoover stayed behind.

As the President dropped a line aboard to catch a sea bass or trout—or, worse luck, a bothersome dogfish—with which the lower bay abounds, he had in Washington a number of aides working on detailed plans for the general business conference he has called for August 26.

Just before he started his vacation trip yesterday, the President outlined the purposes of the meeting. He said it would "deal with specific projects where definite accomplishments in business, agriculture and employment can be attained, and will coordinate the mobilization of private and governmental instrumentalities to that end."

Program Outlined
He is calling in to confer with governmental representatives business committees already in each of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. The chairman of these will meet here August 25 to prepare the program for the conference.

Some of the things that will be on that program, Mr. Hoover said, are:

"A canvass of the means, methods, agencies and powers available in the country for general advancement; wider expansion of credit facilities to business and industry where consumption of goods is assured; coordination and expansion of livestock and agricultural credit facilities; coordination and expansion of financial facilities for the movement of commodities into consumption; expansion of organization for further spread of existing employment and expansion of employment."

He said that later he would disseminate special committees to handle questions such as those directly involving agriculture, labor, railways, and other industries and groups.

Eccentric Recluse, Aged Sweetheart Held in 'Goat Feud' Murder

The chain of evidence in the Natchez (Miss.) "goat feud murder" mystery has tightened about Richard Dana, 61-year-old eccentric. Authorities announce they have identified finger prints at the scene of the slaying of Miss Jane Surget Merrill as those of Dana. He is the nephew of Charles A. Dana, famous editor, and is pictured here in jail at Natchez with his housekeeper and guardian, Miss Octavia Dockrey, 60, indicted with him on a charge of murder. Miss Dockrey, daughter of a Confederate general, was Dick Dana's boyhood sweetheart whom he never married. She became his housekeeper 20 years ago. Authorities believe the slaying climaxed a long-standing quarrel between Miss Dockrey and Miss Merrill over the former's goats which strayed onto the Merrill estate.

gerow, swimming; Vernon Trickett,

Center, life saving and swimming.

The following advancements were also made: Kenneth Abbott of rank; Archie Karracker, Donald McKeown, John Griffith, James

Bates, George Litz, Winslow
Smith, Martin Schuetter and Arthur Walker, second class rank.

During the camp period a total of 60 tests were passed. The fact that more than 250 guests visited the camp proved that the interest of parents and friends was not lacking.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Hark who have been visiting and transacting business here in Lee Center for the past six weeks have returned to Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tuttle attended the band concert in Dixon

MISSING BOY A "MISS"

Boston—For three weeks 16-year-old Frank Operacz was missing from home—and it took a case of shoplifting to find him—as a girl. City police seized a fashionably-dressed "girl" in a department store and, on demanding to search "her" were baffled by "her" refusal to allow the search. It turned out that the "girl" was Frank, off on a shoplifting tour.

Warrant for Libby Holman

It was on this capias, or warrant, that Libby Holman Reynolds was officially taken into custody on an indictment for the shooting of her young husband, Z. Smith Reynolds. It was served on the torch singer when she arrived in Wentworth, N. C., where she was immediately re-leased on $25,000 bail. The capias commands the sheriff of Rockingham county to "safely keep" Mrs. Reynolds for immediate appearance before the Superior Court judge at Winston-Salem. Note that the name Holman appears to be mis-spelled on the document.

went out and voted "against Smith."

This year circumstances and the hammering of a never-sleeping Democratic headquarters in Washington have in large measure made Mr. Hoover the issue. Rightly or wrongly, his administration has become closely linked in many minds with the depression. The Democratic managers are hoping that if they themselves make no major blunders, millions will go out and vote "against Hoover."

Obviously, the Republicans have no intention of playing that end of the game if they can avoid it.

G. O. P. ON OFFENSIVE—

The way to avoid it, the Republican managers think, is not only to defend what Mr. Hoover has done but to take the aggressive along the principal salients of the campaign front.

Some of this had come out before; Mr. Hoover's speech emphasized it and put an authority behind it which is sure to have great effect in shaping the utterances of lesser Republican lights from now on.

How far it will change the Democratic plans does not yet appear.
The Roosevelt leaders will not be diverted easily from their desire to keep the Republicans on the defensive, although, of course, they will take steps at once to divest themselves of the labels Mr. Hoover has sought to attach to them.

However, it comes out, the line of strategy indicate in Mr. Hoo-ver's speech is sure to heighten public interest in the campaign, because the public does not like to see all of the blows struck by one side.

VonSchleicher Is Talked As Premier

Berlin, Aug. 15—(AP)—A possibility that General Kurt Von Schleicher, the affable soldierjunker who is Minister of Defense and the recognized power in the present cabinet, might be Germany's new Chancellor appeared today.

With the country quiet over the week-end, following the collapse of the bid of Adolf Hitler, Nazi leader, for the Chancellorship Saturday, party newspapers began putting out feelers today for a coalition of the Hitler and the Centrists, with General von Schleicher at its head, as a neutral.

The slate also included Dr. Franz Bracht, now virtual dictator of the State of Prussia and Mayor of Essen, as Premier of Prussia.

The Nazis and Centrists would be represented in the cabinet, according to the press suggestions, on the basis of two to one.

The Koelnische Volkszeitung, warned, however, that the present government might block any such move by failing to convoke the Reichstag August 30 as planned. It added the government was "prepared for any eventuality."

Garner, Roosevelt Continue Parley

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15—(AP)— Speaker John Nance Garner completed his first post-convention pow-wow with his "boss" today and prepared to go to New York to polish off campaign plans he says will put Democrats at the helm in Washington.

Over the breakfast coffee the Vice Presidential candidate continued a conference with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt that began yesterday on a hillside outside Peekskill.

Mapping of speaking itineraries was one of the topics discussed. It is now believed that the Speaker will visit the east as well as the west and middle west during his campaign. A person close to Governor Roosevelt indicated the Governor did not agree with suggestions that Garner devote himself wholly to the west and middle west, but wished Garner to do some talking in the east also.

There was no announcement concerning the outcome of the Roosevelt-Garner conference but it was understood the two men agreed they would push an active campaign, reaching as many states and larger communities as possible.

To Start Making Brewery Supplies

Cleveland, Aug. 13—(AP)—Expressing belief that beer will be legalized soon, the Bishop & Babcock Co., turned over its soda fountain manufacturing business to the Liquid Carbonic Co. of Chicago and announced it would concentrate sales activities on bottling equipment for breweries. The Chicago firm paid with stock.

Years ago the Bishop & Babcock Company made 80 per cent of the United States brewery bottling supplies, an official said.
